Swirling Waters Steadily Rising; Stricken Area May Be Inundated

PRINCETON, Ind., March 21.-A new horror-floodthreatened this afternoon to take its place alongside death, famine and pestilence in the southwestern Indiana devastated district.

Simultaneously it was announced the death toll in Indiana had mounted to 103. The revised tornado toll:

Griffin 52, Princeton 22, Owensville 19, Poseyville 5, Elizabeth 5.

The swirling waters of the Nabash river, still littered with debris from the storm, were rising alarmingly and it was feared the stricken area would be inundated any moment.

The flood danger was especially serious at Griffin, according to reports at noon.

"The emergency situation has on the stand. been promptly and competently will be needed.

"The problem first is to get the sightseers away from the tornado areas. When this is done, the people who live there will be in a position, with the aid of the Red Cross, to pick up the threads of existence and set about re-establishing themselves. It will take a lot of money and the only place the can come from is through donations.

"The great danger now is that an epidemic of some kind may break out. The water supply has been destroyed. There is water but it is muddy and dirty. And there are few facilities for carrying out the military order that all water be boiled before it is used for drinking purposes.

Death totals for Illinois and Indiana in Wednesday's storm were officially announced today as fol-ILLINOIS-

The path of Wednesday's tornado was a funeral land today.

Everywhere in the five states which felt the death-laden breath of the storm the victims many of the storm, the victims, many as yet unidentified, were being ,..... committed back to the earth from which they came-laid to rest separately, by twos, by threes and by dozens, in soldier-dug graves. And simple white crosses conjuring up a picture of other such symbols across the sea, stood forth to mark the trail of devastation.

Health authorities have ordered this work to proceed as quickly as possible as the dread possibility of pestilence has arisen from the already prolonged delay, necessary because of inadequate facilities for the work and because there have been hopes that additional vic-tims would be identified.

So today and tomorrow, gaunt, hollow-eyed survivors the storm area of Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee, were to stand solemnly by the yawning death pits to give their last good-bye to wives, mothers, children, sweethearts

Glendale Fund Forwarded to Stricken Area

The Glendale Evening News this afternoon sent a check for $132.25, representing money that has already been received from Glendale persons for the relief of the tornado-stricken district in the middle west, to the Los Angeles Chamber of Com-merce, which is receiving subscriptions from all of Southern California.

The money was sent at once in order that it could be put to immediate use in the relief work. Additional subscriptions are being received by The Glendale Evening News, the complete list appearing elsewhere in this issue. Those who have put their names on the list, who have not yet paid in their money, are urged to do so at once in order that The Glendale Evening News may see to it that the additional fund is forwarded.

Parisian Press Hostile To Proposition: Submarines. Aircraft Big Issue

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

WASHINGTON, March 21. -France is still proving the stumblingblock in the efforts of President Coolidge and the Baldwin ministry of Great Britain toward the staging of second arms conference in Washington next fall or winter, it was admitted today by administration officials.

Some days have elapsed since President Coolidge publicly proclaimed American willingness to invite the powers to Washington for another arms reducing parley, and in that time the reactions of the world capitals have been carefully noted.

France alone of all the world powers directly concerned, has been cold to the proposition. The Parisian press, which is taken here to reflect the attitude of the French government, has been downright hostile.

French objection to again coming to Washington are based primarily on two grounds: 1-A belief that a second arms conference would inevitably result in limitations being placed on aircraft and submarines, two arms in which France is now enerherself to offset British, American F. Sinclair's Mammoth Oil Co. and Japanese naval supremacy,

ORATORICAL PLUM IS WON BY GIRL

Freshman For First Time Takes Biggest Honor At Broadway High

By GLENN CUNNINGHAM the history of the school for the freshman class, Jean Williams, representing the class of '28 in the annual interclass oratorical, was given the decision of the judges at the oratorical contest held in the Broadway High school auditorium Friday afternoon.

The class of '26 was given first place as having the best line of march and tableau and giving its class song and yells the best. The annual oratorical contest is the biggest event of the year, and to win for his class is the greatest honor a student can hold. These honors were doubled this year when the $20 goldpiece was given to Jean Williams, the first freshman to win the "oratorical." Speaks On 'Charity'

Jean spoke on the subject of "Charity," and her oration not only contained excellent material, the result of weeks of study and thought, but was delivered with assurance and accuracy that can come only after careful prepara-

The main theme of her oration was that charity is love, the greatest thing in the world. "The fundamental governing principle of charity is love, not a limited, finite love, but a great impersonal

Jean told how, in case of flood, famine or earthquake, the whole world responds with a generous sympathy and, continuing, said: 'To be charitable is a divine demand. It is one of the oldest behests laid upon man. Love thy neighbor as thyself." She concluded with the quotation: "Now abideth faith, hope and charity, these three; and the greatest of these is charity."

'Child Labor'

Jack Finch, who was chosen by the class of '25 to represent it in the oratorical, spoke on "Child Labor." He pictured clearly the evils of child labor that exist in this country today, and of which the majority of the population is ignorant. Jack explained the causes of this evil and the effects produced by it, and concluded by saying: "We must rise as a body, as Abraham Lincoln did as an in dividual, to free, not the black slaves, but the white child slaves. "Democracy and the Public Schools" was the topic of the oration given by Jerome Andrews.

Balance of Program The lines of march, tableaux, songs and yells were all exceptionally well done by the four classes this year. The class of '26. to carry out the thought of the speaker's subject, devised a very original plan of march. LESSONS OF THE GREAT DISASTER

We, here in Glendale, are stricken with grief and horror as we read the details of the awful affliction that has been visited upon our old friends and neighbors in Missouri, Illinois, Indiana and Tennessee, who are the victims of one of the most terrible calamities in the history of the United States.

Many of us who came from the tornado belt can sympathize more deeply with these people since we can so easily recall visitations of those whirling, churning, funnel-shaped agencies of destruction before which human life is as frail and helpless as the insects which we crush beneath our feet. We have seen tornadoes or the destruction they have wrought and we have marveled at their caprice and their ruthless force. At least we have heard of them sweeping through the country districts and the outskirts of towns in the middle west and taking a heavy toll in property damage and human lives. But never has nature in such a manifestation of her power caused such wholesale slaughter and widespread destruction of homes and cities as in the tornado of Wednesday. Seldom, if ever, have the normal activities of peaceful, happy villages and towns been transformed so quickly into regions reeking with death and ruin and mourning.

It is impossible to conceive of the horror and the grief that pervades that devastated region. Mothers had their babies torn from their arms and little ones sent to school in the morning never returned again. Other little children are wandering about the streets in search of home and mother which they will never find. Long lines of people, torn with fear and despair, have been waiting to view the victims in the improvised morgues, in the effort to get some trace of loved ones. Hundreds who escaped death, maimed and broken for life are mourning their dear ones. All the agencies of normal community life transformed in a moment to minister to the maimed and dying and homeless and to bury the dead.

There are lessons in such a catastrophe even for us who are so far away that we cannot comprehend the horror of it. It should teach us not to grow too arrogant or prideful of man's accomplishments, for we have not yet conquered fire and flood, earthquake and tornado. It is foolish and futile to worry because great catastrophes which we are powerless to prevent may happen, and yet it is well to remember now and then that the things of earth are transitory.

The tornado should teach the lesson of gratitude to those who have so far been spared the horrors that such a disaster brings in its train. While these people have been passing through their Gethsemane we have been enjoying the sunshine of California. While the forces of Nature have been wreaking their fury upon our fellow creatures, this same Nature has been smiling upon us. Should not the contrast in their condition and ours awaken in us a boundless gratitude for our mercies and a deep sympathy for them?

There is only one ray of light in the darkness of the horror which surrounds those so sorely afflicted. A disaster of this kind "makes the whole world kin." No matter how far we are from the source of suffering our first thought is to do something for those who in their great extremity cannot help themselves. We want to help bury the dead, care for the injured and give shelter and food to the homeless. There is no east or west, north or south when great calamities occur. We cannot bring back the dead, complete again the broken family circle or restore the ruined homes, but with our sympathy expressed in our contributions we can help to bring order in the devastated cities, restore sanitary conditions and prevent disease, provide shelter and food for the homeless and help to

It must be that those poor victims of the tornado will take quarter is marked by rather good heart and hope again with the knowledge that men and women aspects. The ingress takes place in every corner of our great country are sympathizing and with Mars in a place foreshadowmourning with them, praying for them and giving to them.

Women have won the right to vote and hold office, and any popular hopes, especially those rehonor that comes to any member of the sex by way of politics should come by reason of merit and ability. As citizens, men and women are on an equality, and those women and organizations that go about trying to engender and keep alive political animosity between the sexes are on the wrong track. The so-called feminist movement is not in the interest of progress. other countries.

If the women who busy themselves in this way would give their time and attention, with men, to getting into office people weather may be expected. It is Lo! with greater qualifications for the work they are to do, regard- well for business men to settle will greater qualifications for the work they are to do, regard- well for business men to settle less of their sex, their efforts would show better results. PAYING THE PRINTER

A bulletin just issued by the bureau of the census shows that in the past ten years the number of establishments engaged in "printing and publishing newspapers and periodicals" has decreased from 19,317 to 10,267, a loss of 48 per cent, due largely to consolidation and the increasing costs of operation and material.

But in that same period the number of wage-earners in this industry increased 122 per cent and the average per capita annual wage increased from $774 to $1690. This includes parttime and overtime and all hands, from the devil to the foreman, in the composing room. The average per capita wage of printers has therefore increased 146 per cent. With the exception of bakers, this wage increase is the largest in any trade day night from Burbank asking listed in this statistical abstract.

Principals In McClintock Murder Mystery Stand For Opposite Types

By MARGARET DALE

Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925. CHICAGO, March 21.--Two strange and diverse personalities will be the central figures in Chicago's next sensational murder trial—William Darling Shepherd, who, the state charges, talked his way into $2,000,000 and Dr. Charles C. Buy or Build Right Now!

The accompanying plan is of a model small home. It is declared to be an ideal one. Right now is the time to buy or build, declare experts. The youth of today should plan for the future—and real estate will assure his future.

Opportunity is youth standing at every man's door year in and year out, urging him to leave the crowded quarters of the city and seek a little home surrounded by well kept grounds in the outskirts. Now is the time to buy or build the home that will bring happiness and more of living into

The accompanying plan is of a model small home in which is reflected detail and competent execution not usually found in home plans as small as this. Not only has every department of the exterior been considered but the rooms themselves are just as compact and convenient as possible.

The detailed fireplace with bookcases and writing desk, the spacious closets, the well arranged bath and modern kitchen are features which hold special appeal to the housewife.

Further information concerning these plans can be obtained from the building department of The Glendale Evening News.

All of the daytime rooms are on the front of the house, which is a very attractive feature. This plan is particularly well designed for a hillside lot, as it permits a good view from the living room, dining room, kitchen and breakfast nook.

The exterior is very unique and original in design and makes a home of unusual charm.

Mr. Bibb planned this house so that it can be built on a hillside than on a level lot. And in either case the cost is surprisingly moderate. Mr. Bibb will be pleased to give any further information regarding these plans, or others, to those interested.

Woman Gives Account Of State Meeting Held Last Month In Frisco

Mrs. James F. McBryde, ninth district committeewoman and member of the state executive committee of the American Legion auxiliary gave a report of the meeting of the state executive committee held March 7 in San Francisco at the meeting last night of Glendale American Legion auxiliary, held in the home of Mrs. Charles Nagle at 321 West

Mrs. McBryde reported that California sent 4 per cent of the men who served during the men who served during the World War and that 14 per cent of disabled veterans were in California and 11 per cent of this number located in Southern · California. She also told of Poppy Day which would be held during Memorial Day week. The pop-pies sold on Poppy Day are all made by disabled veterans and the proceeds of the sales are used for rehabilitation work.

Reports from the standing committees were heard. A fund was started for billet work. According to information sent out from state headquarters there will be approximately 30,000 children of disabled veterans in five years, who will need to be cared for.

"Recognition of Beauty" was the theme of the talk given last night by Mrs. B. Kirk Smith, of the University of Southern California before the Glendale Art association at the regular meeting at the Van Grove studio, 337 North Brand boulevard. She said: "We cannot speak of anything new in art; we can only recall things you already know; art is simply the way of living, the matter of making choice. Art begins in the process of thinking: right thinking is militant, if you think right, you are moved to act; speaking from the standpoint of the teacher, if environment of home is such that a child grows up in an atmosphere of cultural beauty. As a community, we endure ugly things because sometimes we are lazy things; we do not think in the right way to bring about the changes we de-

"The next step is feeling. Society does not want art, but wants something that gives the right feeling. Feeling creates ambition that is never satisfied but keeps striving to reach farther; beauty also means 'doing.' A writer recently said: 'Art is doing anything well.' The duty we owe to others that are to follow after us lies in doing all we can to create the right environment for them.'

Speaking of the wrong use of beauty, and the difference between decoration and design she said: "I never think of a beautiful picture as a decoration but as something to be loved. Self-expression is the unconscious expression of personality."

Modern Art She touched on "Modern Art' and the difference between motif and beauty in ultra-modern painting; the art of using as well as designing; the work in composition that means harmony, and loveliness, that is reached by these three steps, right thinking, right feeling, and right doing.

Mrs. Smith illustrated her talk with a number of designs from university, including many original designs for unusual pottery wrough iron pieces, jewelry, panels, and many others, and spoke of the great variety of thought behind the patterns.

Mrs. Roy A. Ballagh, president, conducted the business meeting before the lecture; it was decided to make all nominations from the floor at the coming elections for officers for the next year.

last night and with W. A. Kelley as presiding officer of the session the Angelus Park district. Those who attended the meeting were all property owners on the north side of Glendale boulevard, where a controversy over street lights has been waged for some weeks. A new school plant would be to the decided advantage of residents in this section, as children now have to attend the Atwater school, nearly two miles away, and across the Pacific Electric right-of-way.

The meeting went on record authorizing the chairman to present a motion at the next meeting of the Atwater Improvement association calling for reconsideration of the association's action in endorsing Marbelite electric light standads and requesting that all further efforts by the associa-tion to circulate protest petitions against metal standards be abandoned. In a second resolution the representatives at the meeting moved

School Addition Assured

The proposed addition at the Atwater Grammar school on Atwater avenue is assured regardless of action taken to secure a new school in any other part of the district. Plans are completed and the board of education is now ready to order construction of the addition, according to word contained in letters to P. E. Lipscomb and C. S. Decker from Secretary William A. Sheldon of the board of education.

Mr. Sheldon stated in his communication to Mr. Decker that, although it is impossible to promise a new school for the northern section of the district at present, to go before the improvement as funds are not available, further

Community Club, Churches To Unite In Early Morn At Forest Lawn

The city churches and Glendale Community Service will join again this year for early morning services on Easter Sunday, April 12. when the rising of the sun will be greeted by beautiful devotional music on Mount Forest Lawn in the southern part of the city.

The people will gather around the newly-completed Tower of Legends on the hill and pastors of the local churches and singers and other musicians from Glendale and surrounding communi-ties will unite in offering the numbers. A brief Easter message will also be given by an outstanding Christian leader of Southern California, Musical Numbers Musical numbers will include an anthem by a choir formed by the Glendale Choral club and church singers, accompanied by the Glendale Symphony orchestra, and by Harold Proctor, Los Angeles soloist. The rising of the sun at 5:20 in the morning will be greeted by a cornet solo, "The Holy City," played by L. E. Wilbur, accompanied by the orches-The audience will join with the choir for several hymns.

Buglers from the Boy Scout troops will wake the people in time for the service and special cars will be provided by the Pacific-Electric and the Glendale-Montrose lines. Large attendance from all surrounding cities is anticipated, Glendale's service being one of the largest and most centrally located in the district.

Committee Named

The committee in charge of arrangements is as follows: George J. Lyons, Elwood Ingledue, V. M Hollister, Francis Gordon and R.

Ernest Tucker.
The first of two rehearsals for the big chorus will occur in the Harvard High school auditorium at 8 o'clock on next Monday evening, March 23, with singers from many cities in attendance. These figures vary but little from the figures of yesterday, and it is believed that the final death totals will bring only minor additions. The exact toll of the Red Cross officials admitted, probably never will be known. There were some victims actually annihilated in the wind terror. Others were removed to different towns. And there may have been scores of visitors in the section who will not be missed for weeks.

There is a possibility that some of the towns will not be rebuilt. Rescue workers say that Parrish and Desoto, Ill., and Griffin, Ind., are virtually completely razed and they intimate that they will be left as they are—a record of the storm

CROSS WORD PUZZLE

COMPILED FOR GLENDALE EVENING NEWS READERS Copyright, 1925, By The George Matthew Adams Service

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE

The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram. Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black space to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterruptedly. Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the white space that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white spaces remain uninterruptedly.

GLENDALE PROPERTY HERE IS A BUNGALOW BARGAIN

YOU WILL SAVE $3000 WHEN YOU buy this new seven room stucco, which is located in the most desirable location in Glendale, and strictly modern right up-to-the-minute, including unit heating system, electrically controlled, tile bath, Pembroke tub with shower, two front rooms which are extra large, finished in genuine mahogany,
Walls oil painted with dome ceilings, breakfast room large enough could be used for the fourth bedroom or den. This beautiful home gannot be equaled in Glendale for less than $15,000. Price is $12,000, with fine terms if sold this, week.
SACRIFICE in a new six room stucco. Wonderfully located, with fine view, two front rooms gumwood inish, best hardwood floors throughout, tile sink and bath with shower, two flexible parts.

Our policy is never to exaggerate in our advertising and this advertisement is no exception, but we must some way make you realize that this is a very "unusual" opportunity. Seven room stucco. A wonderful view location in one of Glender's very best restricted residence sections. Every possible built-in feature and arrangement that makes for attractiveness and convenience.
This place must be sold in the regular way, would have to be offered at $8500. Reduced a few days ago to $7000; it was in our judgment a real bargain, but nowOwner says we must get a quick deal. Honestly! We think $6500 with about $1000 to $1200 cash (possibly less) will buy it. Whoever gets it will get the best barout, tile sink and bath with shower,

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS FOR SALE USED PIANOS

BOUGHT - SOLD - RENTED I will buy for cash or will help you sell or rent your plano, player or Grand. Quick action.

I have many clients wishing to buy or rent a good used instrument from private party.

Why pay a dealer $100 to $200 more, just to help him pay his store rent, salaries, office help, discounts to finance companies', etc., or why sell your plano to a dealer, when he must buy at a price that enables quickly atnust buy at a price that enables im to add his enormous selling cost him to add his enormous selling cost to the sale and still make a profit.

I am not a dealer nor am I in any way affiliated with one, but my 25 years' experience with them enables me to show you how to dispose of your instrument without serious loss or buy at a saying of $100 to $200 below the price asked by dealers for same quality goods.
